

The idea of Shittycoin was born while taking a massive load of shit in a public toilet. I was pressing so hard that the idea literally just pop out of my head. Nowadays you pay 0,50$ and give them the old toilet lady.

But everyone has to pay the same amount, regardless how big your dump was or if its smelly or not.

That's not fair!

We from Shittycoin have the solution: Why not bring the the future technology of blockchain to solve this problem.

On the toilets we installed specials sensors which will exactly measure the consistency and mass of your shit. Via the blockchain the results will instantly be uploaded in real-time.

Afterwards the price will be calculated and automatically withdrawn from your Shittycoin Wallet through your Shittycoin App. You only pay what you shit! This is gonna be the next shit! Literally!

Wait...Did you take this seriously? Come on.

I was writing this few lines on the toilet of my friend while taking a huge dump. We don't have a coin, so why the hell in the world would we need a whitepaper?

This would be just too much work. Don't read any further and instead just have a look of the cute girls at our page and send us your money.